SKIP THE ADS! (Some of the ads are legitimate, but sadly I can't vouch for them all. Avoid the single mom or single dad scholarships—I and a few other students have received calls, and some of the operators are not scrupulous, trying to pressure students in pursuing degrees at for-profit colleges and to take on heavy student loans.)

They often ask very extensive, very invasive questions if you sign up for them, in order to give that information to marketers.)

Don't forget to check out page 2 for more but not very well known sources of scholarship information.

Looking for Scholarships, Internships, and other Government Programs using Benefits.gov

<https://www.benefits.gov/>

Started in 2002, Benefits.gov has become the portal for information about government benefits, which includes state information.

Students, and also parents, can choose to answer questions in the Benefit Finder Tool and find benefits, including scholarships, internships, and government programs, they can apply for.

Community Foundation Scholarships all Over America

<http://www.cof.org/community-foundation-locator>

Use this Community Foundation Locator at the link above to find a community foundation close to your permanent residence address.

While community foundations often give funds to nonprofits, some also administer local scholarships.

Go and see what scholarships or programs may be available.

Grants to Individuals Online database

There is a little known resource called Grants to Individual Online database, accessible to students and others through Funding Information Network Locations.

If you happen to be in Nashville, TN, then the Nashville Public Library at 615 Church St, Nashville, TN 37219, Phone: (615) 862-5800 is one of those locations.

<http://grantspace.org/find-us>

By putting in your zip code at the website at the above link, you can find libraries or places you can go to access this database.

Have the librarians teach you everything that the Grants to Individual Online database has available.

<http://gtionline.foundationcenter.org/>--This is the official page to look once you get to one of those libraries. I believe if one of these library isn't close to you, it costs about $20 to access for one month.
